Thanks Dan.

I have to be upcountry with one of my colleagues on the 19th for a couple of meetings/inspections and so we are thinking of coming earlier and attending the public meeting on the 18th just to listen in. I have contacted Melinda of JVID to see if they will attend the public meeting as I thought it would be a good opportunity to get together briefly after the meeting to chat and see if we can integrate this into our annual drill later in the Fall. Would that work for you?

Priya

Hi Priyanka,

EPA is definitely interested in participating in the exercise and it is good timing for all agencies to assess their preparedness for a dam failure event. It has been determined the Argonaut Tailings Dam is unstable and presents a potential threat to life and property. EPA is working with CalEPA and other State and local agencies on the options and funding for dam retrofit design and construction, assessing options for a surface water diversion system and emergency preparedness. I have not yet coordinated with the Jackson Valley Irrigation District but plan to give them a call today. EPA Region 9 is currently involved with response efforts a two major disasters, the Gold King Mine Release and Saipan Typhoon Disasters.

Hi Dan. Wanted to follow up with you in regards to the EAP exercise.

Is EPA still interested in being a part of our emergency preparedness upcountry? Are you coordinating with JVID?

Thanks, Priya.

Hi Dan.

I could not remember if I had sent this save-the-date notice to you.

We may want to get together soon to discuss EPA's participation and the table top exercise.

We'll then coordinate w/ PG&E and JVID as well.

Thnx, Priya Jain
